MURRAY AND CRUCE BOTH CLAIM A MAJORITY

May Take Official Count To Decide Who Will Be Democratic Nominee For Governor

ALL OLD COUNTY OFFICERS ELECTED

Barton, Hill and Mitchell Seem to Have Good Lead Over Opponents. Rinard Defeated For The Office of County Commissioner

The election is over and nobody cares. Everybody is glad, even the defeated candidates. The returns are incomplete thus far, but it seems as though neither Cruce, Murray or Ross can safely claim a victory in the governor's contest. Reports from Cruce headquarters say that Cruce claims a plurality of ten thousand, and that Murray and Ross are neck and neck for second place. A message from Murray headquarters at 1 o'clock this afternoon says that out of the precincts already in Cruce's lead is 2600 and there are yet 1600 precincts to be heard from. Since these precincts are in the rural sections where Mr. Murray is strongest, the Tishomingo sage claims his lead will be around ten thousand when these are in.

Murray was slaughtered in Ada, only receiving 104 votes in the four wards. In the county out of 27 precincts Ross and Murray ran close together, with the former a nose ahead. In a bunch of boxes Cruce only has a lead of 229.

The county races were warm and interesting, but the results are decisive. All of the old officers were retained by substantial majorities, and Erwin, Mitchell, Barton and Hill were elected treasurer, sheriff, judge and weigher respectively. In the sheriff's race Chapman is second with a big vote. Ratliff is not far behind the head man in the judge's race.

Tom D. McKown is a sure winner in the district judge's race, with indications that Rainey will be second man and the other judge. It is impossible to give satisfactory returns in the state-wide contests, as the returns outside of the county are unavailable.

Wilson defeated Cameron in Pontotoc County for state superintendent, but it is thought Cameron will carry the state by a large majority.

There were many surprises, and as many disappointments. Some of the defeated candidates look sick and others are as cheerful as though it had never happened. J. W. Davis had a big crowd about him this forenoon singing them a solo, and remarked to a blue looking chap that it is better to be cheerful than sour. Primm, of Francis, who had no opposition in Pontotoc as a candidate for florial representative, for Pontotoc and Seminole, was defeated in both counties. Roddie defeated Davis for State Senator, but the latter ran fastest in Seminole.

Crawford it seems defeated Nettles and Arnold for representative, but Nettles ran a close second.

County Attorney—Roland 653, Wimbish 1050.

County Clerk—Dew 643, Kerr 1005.

District Clerk—Cox 1084, Lindsay 483.

County Treasurer—Erwin 974, Scroggins 163, Westbrook 587.

County Judge—With the returns from eighteen boxes: Barton 719, Croxton 330, Grigsby, 80; Ratliff 468, Tolbert 113.

Sheriff—With six boxes to hear from the sheriff's race is as follows: Chapman 554, Farmer 473, Fussell 362, McClure 307, Mitchell 711, Thompson 75.

County Weigher—S. C. Burnett 804, Sherwood Hill 875, John Ward 614.

Register of Deeds—Hargis 979, James 693.

Senate—Out of 29 returns in Pontotoc and 9 in Seminole: Roddie 1545, Davis 1004.

Representative—John P. Crawford seems to be in the lead by a 100 or 150 votes.

State Superintendent—Wilson 1120, Cameron 563.

VISITING CROWDS APPRECIATED BUT HANDICAPS NEWS

The News has appreciated the flocks of visitors today desirous of obtaining early election information, this open house by the News, while of its choice and shall continue its policy, has rendered it more or less difficult for the necessarily limited staff to prepare the election information desirable for the reading public.

JOE MCNEAL OF GUTHRIE REPUBLICAN NOMINEE

The best available returns state that Hon. Joe McNeal the Guthrie banker is the republican nominee for governor by a good majority, and that ex-Governor Ferguson and Col. C. G. Jones are close together as seconds.

MURRAY AND CRUCE ON SAME TRAIN

THE TWO MEET ON DEPOT PLATFORM AND EXCHANGE CORDIAL GREETINGS

Ardmore, Okla., Aug. 2.—After voting here today, Lee Cruce, candidate for Governor, left for Oklahoma City. William H. Murray arrived from Tishomingo and was a passenger on the same train north. The two candidates met on the depot platform and exchanged a cordial handshake. Cruce then turned to shake hands with others, causing Murray to remark: "Cruce, you need not do that any more; it is well over now." That's a fact, Bill, but you see I will have to make another race right soon," replied the Ardmore man, with the indication that he would be nominated. "Yes, I have heard that before," was Murray's rejoinder as he joined Hal Muldrow, one of his campaign managers. The Tishomingo man rode to Oklahoma City on the sleeper.

Cruce's Claims.
A message by phone from Oklahoma City at 3:30 this p. m. says that Cruce expresses confidence on his nomination, and says his plurality will reach 15,000.

ACTION OF REPUBLICAN CONTEMPORARY HURTS THE FEELINGS OF NEWS

The News does not remember during the campaign, or previously, of having reflected in any way on the Ada Republican or its editor, Mr. Bridwell. But such editor handed the News one this afternoon that it is thought that there should be some return. Mr. Bridwell handled the tally sheets in the main at the News office last night while Carlton Weaver called the returns. The News paid for the calls of course. It was thought that it would be a partnership tally sheet and in all confidence Mr. Tanner of the News called for the temporary use of it this afternoon for the time it would require the printer to set up the returns. Mr. Bridwell refused him the use of it, except for money, said he would sell it to the News. Such unexpected treatment, cripples the News reports of the election returns this afternoon.

GRANDFATHER CLAUSE

Carries From 18 to 25,000—Democratic Ballots Stolen in Wagoner County.

Interest centered in the race between the democratic aspirants for governor, and returns received last night dealt largely with that issue. It appears, however, that J. J. McAlister has been nominated for lieutenant governor, George Henshaw for corporation commissioner, Charles West for attorney general, Leo Meyer for secretary of state and Robert Dunlop for state treasurer.

The proposed amendment to the constitution disfranchising the illiterate negro voters was adopted by a majority variously estimated at from 18,000 to 25,000. In several eastern and southeastern counties, the majorities were heavy, while in some of the western counties they were light. In Red Bird precinct in Wagoner county, where the negroes rule, the democratic ballots were stolen Monday night. In certain precincts of Stephens county, where the socialists are numerous, it is reported that the democratic ballots were stolen.

NEW COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Returns Indicate That There Will Be New Set.

Returns indicate that there will be an entirely new set of county commissioners. Hunt has a slight lead over Lambert in No. 1, Montgomery has a slight majority over Floyd in No. 2, and reports from Ross indicate that Richardson has a safe majority over Short in No. 3.

Returns in at 3 P. M. Put the Johnson County Farmer in the Lead.

Special to News.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Aug. 3.—Upon being asked for a statement as to the result of the primary election Wm. H. Murray replied: "Returns are slow in coming in. My strength in the cities is even better than I expected. We haven't yet all the returns but enough to put me in the lead already. Of the returns we have I am sure of twenty one counties while Cruce carries ten and Ross six. In the remaining counties I am certain that my strength will still grow."

Murray's Claims.
A message from Oklahoma City at 3 p. m. signed by Wm. H. Murray says that the returns up to that hour give him a safe lead and that the nearly 1600 precincts, yet to be heard from are from the country districts and will steadily increase his plurality.

I am of the opinion it will take two or three days before complete returns can be had. One thing has hurt me and that is the state election board failed to send enough ballots to those counties where I was strongest. There were two hundred and fifty Murray men in McIntosh county who could not vote. They were short in a number of boxes in Jackson county.

At Crusher on the line of Murray and Carter county, the voting strength of which, being entirely laborers and farmers, there were eighty that didn't get to vote. This has been true of quite a number of places over the state.

Notwithstanding it will possibly cause me a loss of five thousand, I will yet win by more than ten or twelve thousand. I urge my friends to watch the count in every county of the state and get the return to me quick.

W. H. MURRAY.

DR. CRIPPEN TO BE DEFENDED.

London Suspect Warned to Remain
Absolutely Silent.

Quebec, Aug. 2.—Dr. Hawley H.
Crippen has friends in London who believe he did not slay his wife, Belle Elmore, and they are willing to pay for a lawyer to defend him when he is tried there for murder. He received proof of this tonight when the jailer handed him the following cablegram from a London solicitor:

"Dr. H. H. Crippen, care of Inspector Dew, Quebec: Your friends desire me to defend you and will pay all necessary expenses. Will undertake your defense, but you must promise to keep absolutely silent and answer no questions and do not resist extradition.

"Reply confirming, as a good deal
must be done at once.

"Arthur Newton, Solicitor.
"London."

First Gleam of Hope.

This unexpected message brought to the accused dentist in his lonely cell the first gleam of hope since his arrest Sunday on the steamer
Montrose with his companion in flight
Ethel Clare Leneve, and, by a coincidence, the bearer of these good tidings was Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard, who on Sunday swiftly crushed the fugitive's hopes of escape.

Whether Crippen has accepted the proffered assistance of these unknown friends or has refused it in the same colorless manner with which he has met all advances could not be learned tonight.

Inspector Dew and Chief McCarthy of the Quebec police had nothing to say after their visit to him. Thus the question arises whether the offer of today may explain the seemingly unconcerned attitude of Dr. Crippen since his arrest.

Did he have assurance to this effect before he broke his "gentleman's agreement" with Inspector Dew in London and fled? The identity of friends who volunteered their funds in his behalf could not be ascertained here tonight and nothing is known about the solicitor who signed the cablegram.

Crippen Silent and Morose.

Judging from his behavior since he was arrested, the pale little prisoner on Quebec Heights did not need the warning to remain silent. A single monosyllable negative to his jailer's inquiry whether he wished to give any public statement was the only message that came from him today for the outside world. Reading in his cell or silently pacing the corridor where he is allowed to exercise for part of the day, Crippen shows a desire for little except to be let alone. Today he wanted something to read, and when asked his choice he said for one thing, he would like a Bible. He received the book with other literature.

The attitude of Miss Leneve is unlike the man's. The jail matron and the women of the household of Chief McCarthy, where she spent part of the day yesterday, say she is not averse to conversation, but she declines to say any thing about the crime with which she is charged jointly with Crippen or of their wanderings together through Europe.

FROZEN TO DEATH IN A TEMPERATURE OF 106

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 2.—A man frozen to death in a country where a few hours before the temperature registered 106 is the strange story that comes from Maricopa, Ariz. A car load of ice was unloaded on the depot platform there Saturday night and covered with tarpaulin. Some time during the night a Mexican climbed upon the pile of ice and went to sleep. When hands came before day to haul the ice away the Mexican was found dead. The temperature Saturday and Sunday was 106.

OKLA. PORTLAND CEMENT COMPANY

HAS VOLUNTARILY INAUGURATED
AN EMPLOYEES' MONTHLY
PROFIT SHARING DIVI-DEND.

EMPLOYEES AND EMPLOYERS BROUGHT CLOSER TOGETHER

Makes Each Employee Feel a Personal Interest in the Operation and Success of the Plant.

The Oklahoma Portland Cement
company being composed of progressive, liberal minded business men, is ever on the alert to improve things that pertain to the production of more and better cement.

The company has had a cement war practically ever since they came to this city. Competition has been close, very close. They have suffered some few break downs, and accidents, at times insufficient water supply, and many things that mean expense. However none of these things have deterred them in increasing the capacity of their plant about three fold and being liberal factors in the development of a bigger and better Ada.
And what they have done and will continue to do for their employees may well be judged from the following letter addressed to their employees:

"Oklahoma Portland Cement Company
To the Employees of the Oklahoma
Portland Cement Company:
"GREETING: Realizing that a closer relationship between Employer and Employee should exist, and that the best possible friendly relations should be established and maintained
the management of the Oklahoma Portland Cement Company has voluntarily inaugurated, and will pay, when warranted by the Company's earnings so to do, an Employee's

Monthly Profit Sharing Dividend, based upon the average monthly cost of production, and the net average monthly mill selling price per barrel.
As the profits of the Oklahoma Portland Cement Company may increase or decrease, so also shall such Employees' Monthly Profit Sharing Dividend increase or decrease in like proportions.

Such Profit Sharing Dividends as shall be declared and paid will be upon the percentage basis, and will be entirely voluntary upon the part of the Company, and may, in the discretion of the Company, be discontinued.

However, the management wishes to assure the Employees of this Company that such dividend will not be discontinued until such time as the net selling price shall be so low or such cost of production shall be so high that the Company would not be warranted or justified in declaring and paying such dividend.

The payment of such dividend makes each Employee personally interested in the operation and success of the mill by keeping down the cost of production and carefully guarding and protecting the property of the Company against neglect and wanton wastefulness and destruction in the various departments.

The success of this venture is to a great extent in the hands of the Employees of this Company, and a heartly co-operation on their part showing a disposition to protect the property of this Company against loss will bear fruit in an increased dividend to them.

When She Could Not Stand on

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's this city, "and have a heap to do."

"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work.
I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors.

Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic.
It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vege-

trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients, having no home in many instances if recognized early according to Dr. Carrington, of the National Anti-Tuberculosis Society. Consumption is a disease of the lungs, which is taken from others, and is not due to merely catching cold as many believe. It is caused by germs, known as the tubercule bacteria, or bacilli, which enter the body with the air breathed.

Any person may contract the disease by taking in germs with the air he breathes.

The conclusion derived is that open air, being the purest, should be breathed, especially while sleeping.
The only thing necessary to use this open air cure is that the sleeper be protected while sleeping.
A window tent is one of the best ways to sleep. One can be made for less than $10. A simple way to make a window tent is to take two large heavy cotton sheets, sew them together along the edge, tack one edge of the double sheet to the top of the window casing and drop the lower end over the outer side of the bed, fastening the bottom of the sheet to the bedrail with tape. There will be enough cloth hanging on each side of the window to form the sides of the tent, and these should be fastened to the window casings. A window tent can be made at home for about $3 by using twelve or fifteen yards of heavy denium or light canvas.
If you live in a house where there is a screened porch, all that you have to do is to sling a hammock on the porch, and the arrangement is complete. If you want to sleep in the open air, under a tree in a hammock, you must be careful to have a mosquito bar covering your face at least.
It is harmful to sleep on the bare ground because there is a certain dampness which may cause you to take cold. The main thing, however, to be observed is to keep away from insects and mosquitoes.
The open air method of sleeping is to be desired not only for its healthful benefits, but also because of the comfort. In this extremely hot weather nothing is more refreshing at night than to sleep in the open air away from the sweltering heat of the

HEARING BEGINS THURSDAY

Senator Gore and His Brother Will Appear Before Congressional Committee.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Aug. 2.—United States Senator Thomas Pryor Gore passed through here this morning from Lawton to Vinita, whence he will go to Muskogee tomorrow preliminary to appearing Thursday before the congressional committee investigating the McMurray contract with Indians. D. Fuller Gore, the senator's brother and private secretary, also passed through via McAlester.

J. F. McMurray of McAlester, whose contract the committee is investigating, in addition to the charge made by Senator Gore on the senate floor, has retained Dennis T. Flynn and Judge C. B. Ames of Oklahoma City to represent him before the committee. Mr. Flynn for several years was delegate to congress from Oklahoma Territory.

The committee will probably sit in Muskogee several days, then visit other points in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations for the purpose of making a careful inquiry into the purposes of the contract given McMurray by the Indians and reveal what the latter hoped to gain thereby. Other than Senator Gore, it is not known who will be witnesses at the Muskogee sitting.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 3.—Six hundred and thirty boxes or 210 barrels of the best commercial apples exhibited at the third National Apple Show in Spokane, Nov. 14 to 19, will win the sweepstake prize of $1,000 and a gold medal banner with the title of champion of the world for the owner, lessee or authorized agent of the land where the fruit was grown. The second prize is $300 and a silver medal banner. Premiums of a total value of $19,000 will be awarded in other contests, ranging from 10 boxes each to a single apple. All competitions are free and open to the world, entries closing November 9.

In making the foregoing announcement, E. F. Cartier Van Dissel, chairman of the board of trustees of the National Apple Show, Inc., said that exhibitors may enter from one to six varieties, provided that each consists of at least 50 boxes, or he may show 630 boxes of a single variety, 580 boxes of one variety of 50 boxes of another or make any other division he chooses within the limits.

Mr. Van Dissel also announced carload competitions on seven varieties and one mixed carload, as follows: Winesap, Rome Beauty, Wagener, McIntosh Red, Jonathan, Yellow Newtown and Spitzenburg. The mixed carload entries may consist of not less than 50 boxes of any standard winter variety to the number of 630 boxes in each display. The straight carload entries will be scored against all other exhibits in their class on variety. The first prize in each contest is $250 and a gold medal banner, the second being $100 and a silver medal banner. There will also be special prizes for the best packs. The carload prize-winners and district displays from various parts of the Northwest will be exhibited in the First Regiment Armory, Chicago, November 28 to December 4.

Judges of international reputation will pass upon the exhibits shown in Spokane next fall, the chief points for consideration in making comparisons of values being as follows:

First—Values of the varieties for the purposes to which they may be adapted.

Second—Color, size and evenness of fruit.

Third—Freedom from marks of insects and blemishes.

Fourth—Apparent care in handling and taste displayed in the packing and arrangement.

Scoring points are thus apportioned: Quality, color, pack and condition, 20 each; size and uniformity, 10 each; possible 100.

The following points will be considered on box exhibits: Bulge or swell, alignment, height at ends, firmness and attractiveness, 4 each; possible, 20. For barrels: Staves, hoops, heads and nailing, 2 each; possible, 8 points. On packing: Facing, 6; tilling, pressing and packing, 2 each; possible, 12 points; total, 20 points.

"The National Apple Show is not a money-making enterprise in any sense of the term," said Ren H. Rice, secretary and manager of the organization. "In fact, it costs the people of Spokane fully $25,000 a year to maintain the institution. The first show in 1908 cost $41,000 while the expense of the 1909 exposition, which was much larger, the display space occupying an area of three and a half acres, was $42,000.

"The people of Spokane look upon these contributions as an investment in a project, which is designed to develop the apple industry, not only in the Northwestern states and provinces but all over the continent; encourage perfection in growing and fix a standard for commercial apples. Another purpose is to bring the growers of the various districts together for the interchange of ideas.

"More than 1,000,000 apples were shown in 1908, while in 1909, there were 1,526,831. There will be more than 2,000,000 apples entered in the various contests next November. If these apples were placed end to end in a straight line they would extend a distance of about 73 miles. The total value of this year's entries is estimated at from $55,000 to $60,000."

FAIRBANKS ON THE MUCKRAKER

Former Vice President Says They Have Become Object of Contempt.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 2.—Speaking before the Associated Advertising Clubs of America at Omaha this week, former Vice President Fairbanks assailed the muckrakers. He said among other things:

"Men who will wantonly and maliciously assail our public servants, no matter what their political faith may be and who are faithful to public duty, are traitors to the state, no matter how lofty their hypercritical professions may seem to sound.

"One of the marked features of recent years has been the indiscriminate abuse of men in public position. The malodorous muckraker flourishes for a time, but he has come to be an object of contempt, since his recklessness and insincerity have become manifest. Abuse of the liberty of the press; the attempt to malign other men and by falsehood to destroy their character, whether in private or public life, has come to be recognized as the blackest among the entire catalogue of crimes."

SOLDIERS MAKE RECORD.

Marshall Company Answered Palestine Call on Hour's Notice.

Marshall, Tex., Aug. 2.—The Marshall military company returned last night from Palestine, where they have been on duty since Saturday night on account of the race riot in Anderson county. The boys say that they were accorded a hearty welcome when they arrived there Saturday night. Several thousand people were at the station.

The Marshall boys feel that they made a record on this trip, for they were ready within an hour after the call came to Col. Rains from Austin, forty-three strong, and it took the Texas and Pacific railroad just thirty-five minutes to get a special ready for them and twenty-seven minutes to run them over to Longview Junction.

The company will board the train here this afternoon for another trip, this time to Leon Springs to the army maneuvers.

Roosevelt Talks With Tollers.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 2.—Theodore Roosevelt spent the day among the workers in the heart of the anthracite region. He talked with the men who dig the coal as they came from the mines. He talked with them about their homes, their children and manner of living. He spent another half hour in a silk mill talking with the girl workers. He visited the people in their homes. He plodded two miles through the dust, up hills and in all manner of places. Many of the tollers had no idea of the former president's identity until after he had finished his talk.

TIPS On Choosing a Bank

Before lining up with a bank you should investigate several points in connection with it. In the first place ascertain whether or not the bank is prospering and developing along with the other lines of business of the community. If a bank's business isn't prospering something is wrong. In the second place are the officers and directors of the bank good, safe business men who deal squarely with the people? Watch out for a bank operated by tricksters or sharpers. In the third place do the directors really direct or are they merely figure heads? Look out for a bank whose directors know little or nothing about its business.

We want you to investigate this institution. We know its business is prospering and increasing right along. You know its officers and directors and we believe they are safe, honorable, business men. The directors of this bank say what shall and shall not be done. They pass upon the loans regularly and their instructions are carried out to the letter. This bank is what they make it—A Strong, Prospering, Conservative institution.

CAPITAL FIGHT ON WITH A VIM

GUTHRIE PROMISES A WARM FIGHT AND STATE GETS READY

Attorneys Meet With Governor Today to Arrange the Case.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 3.—A contest will start today which promises to even eclipse the state election of Tuesday. Renewed interest is being taken in the state capital case and both Oklahoma City and Guthrie will put forth every effort to land the home of the state officials.

Mark L. Goodwin, representative for the Dallas News, Orville D. Hall, the Oklahoma representative of the Kansas City Journal, and Frank Bickford of the Wichita Eagle, were in Oklahoma City Tuesday on their way to Muskogee, to attend the Gore-Murray senate investigation.

Each of the press representatives say Guthrie is going to succeed in keeping the state capital; that the recent ruling of the supreme court was a decided victory for Guthrie and that the citizens realize now that they have a splendid opportunity to keep the capital away from Oklahoma City. The Commercial Club, they say, is back of the move and will fight until the last legal remedy is exhausted.

Of course Oklahoma City contends that it should have the capital and preparations have been made for quarters for the officials. Just as soon as political affairs, caused from Tuesday's election, quiet, several Oklahoma City representatives will start to finding out what can be done in the state capital case.

It is known that Governor Haskell, with the attorneys, will take some active steps in the matter this week. Judge B. F. Burwell, of Oklahoma City, and C. B. Stewart, of McAlester, who represent Governor Haskell, and other state officers, will hold a conference with Governor Haskell Wednesday morning at which time steps will be taken to take up the case in the district court of Logan county.

In the meantime all the officials directly under Governor Haskell will move to Oklahoma City to make their permanent home. Those appointive are: the school land department, state militia, equalization board, state medical board and several other state boards.

Governor Haskell is chairman of several of the boards and those that are not brought to Oklahoma City, to remain permanently will have to hold their meetings here.

REPUBLICANS SPLIT IN IOWA.

Harmony Destroyed by Resolutions of Standpatters—Taft Endorsed.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 2.—It was nearing midnight when the stand-patter leaders, after a day of ceaseless conferences, drafted resolutions calculated to shatter the last remote shadow of harmony at tomorrow's republican state convention. The text of the planks for which they agreed to fight to the last are substantially as follows:

1. We endorse President William H. Taft and his administration of the affairs of the nation. We endorse him as the leader of the republican party of the nation.

2. We endorse the economical and statesmanlike administration of governor B. B. Carroll, leader of the republican party in the state of Iowa.

3. We endorse the action of President Taft in placing his signature and his approval upon the Payne-Adrich tariff bill, and to this law we give our full and unqualified indorsement.

4. In so far as they have aided President Taft in carrying out the policies and program of the administration, we endorse the Iowa delegation at Washington.

On the other side the progressive leaders conferred tonight to the general effect that Taft should be mentioned only to the extent that he has endeavored to carry out the pledges of the national republican platform. The insurgents throw out a sop for harmony by agreeing to an indorsement of the state administration, without mentioning the governor's name.

Both meetings were enthusiastic. At the stand-pat meeting ex-Congressman Lacey sounded the keynote: "Let us fight," he said, "and if the steam roller passes over us, let us go down to defeat carrying the flag of true republicanism with us, while the majority who vote us down bear the odium of having refused specific endorsement of a great republican president, who has carried out every promise of the republican party. We must remember two things: First, that it is necessary that Iowa go republican; and, second, most important, that it is necessary that the republican party go republican."

MAN TO WHIP JACK JOHNSON

Missouri Giant Declared to Be Man Who Can Whip the Negro.

Bakersfield, Cal., Aug. 2.—The identity of James J. Corbett's "unknown," whom the former champion expects to win the championship from Jack Johnson for the white race, was revealed today in a message from Albany, Mo. Miles McLeod, a young giant, 27 years old, and weighing 250 pounds is Corbett's protégé.

The message, which is declared to be from a strictly reliable source, was to a local newspaper man. It states that McLeod has signed a contract with Corbett to enter the ring and that he is now secretly receiving boxing instructions from the former champion.

McLeod comes from a family of giants, having two brothers his equal in size. He is a college man and an athlete.

Albany, Mo., Aug. 2.—Miles McLeod is a farmer whose parents live on a farm here. He is a man of gigantic proportions, being about six feet, six inches tall, and built accordingly. He left here some time ago to go to Chicago. It was understood at that time that he expected to go into training to fight Johnson. So far as is known here, he has had no training as a prize fighter. His parents, who live here, are trying to persuade him not to take up such a profession. His aspirations had not been taken seriously here, and the report that he is Corbett's "unknown" came as a surprise.

Francesca's Busy Morning

Francesca is an American child, with the face of a blonde Dutch cherub, the vivacity of a French infant and an Italian front name. All this is hard to live up to when one is but three-and-one-half years old. On one particular morning Francesca found life especially trying.

She had started out after breakfast with a properly smiling morning countenance and a perfectly clean pink frock. When she ran gleefully into the room where her mother was, that young matron regarded her offspring with an abstracted eye. Her thoughts were on her trunk, which she was in the act of packing.

"Run right out of here!" commanded Francesca's mother. "And stay out till I finish! You'll mix everything all up!"

Francesca slid out of the room and then beamed. Across the hall interesting things seemed to be in progress in her aunt's room.

"Francesca!" was her greeting. "Get up—you're right in the middle of that stuff and musing it dreadfully!"

"Watch out!" Francesca demanded. "Covering a box couch—can't you see?" inquired her exasperated aunt. "Get up and run away—don't come in here till I finish. It's all tacks and scissors and hammers and things!"

"I want the hammer! Give me the hammer!" cried Francesca delightedly.

She felt herself propelled upward and outward. Then she landed in the cottage living room before she could gasp for breath. Being there she decided not to howl after all, especially as something on the writing table attracted her eyes.

"Francesca!" called her mother. "You are so still—what are you doing?"

"Nuffin," said Francesca.

Her aunt peered out over Francesca's shoulder. "Dear me!" she said. "If she isn't sitting in the Morris chair with her hands folded like an injured angel!"

"Injured angel nothing!" said her mother a few seconds later. She knew Francesca's silences were full of significance and had come to investigate. "She has your red leather bridge set and has bent up all the cards! Francesca!"

"Put her outdoors to play," suggested her aunt. "It's a lovely day. She can't do more than uproot a few trees or knock out the foundations of the house!"

"I don't know," said her mother. "Those rainy days she made life a horror by her teasing to go out and play, but she's so contrary. Francesca, darling, don't you want to take your ball and little red wagon and go out into the yard awhile in the nice sunshine?"

"No," said Francesca, determinedly. "Auntie'll give you the kitchen spoon to dig with," came from the couch-corer.

"No," said Francesca. "What that child needs is diplomacy," said her aunt. "We won't let Francesca go out of doors, will we, mother? She has to stay in the house all this nice day."

"I wanna go outdoors!" wailed Francesca.

"There!" said her aunt five minutes later when they had bundled her out with her toys. "If you'd handle her the right way you could do anything with her."

A few minutes later Francesca's mother, who had glanced out of the window, flew into the yard and bore her child indoors.

"It's terribly easy to manage her!" she remarked sarcastically. "This child's pulled up three geraniums, broken most of the ferns and dug holes down the path with her spoon and all in ten minutes!"

"I only hope she applies the same energy to getting on in the world when she grows up!" wailed Francesca's aunt. "Francesca, sit in that chair and don't you dare budge! I'm going to keep an eye on you."

"Where is it?" inquired Francesca, presently. She was searching up and down her pinafore.

"What?"

"Your eye," said Francesca. "Can I have sumpin' to eat?"

"Yes!" said her aunt. "Run out into the pantry and lift the cover from the big tin breadbox on the floor and take a slice of bread. There's butter on the top slice, which was left from the other time you were hungry this morning."

Francesca pattered away. Presently they both went to look for her. On the floor sat Francesca, both hands full of chocolate-iced cake, stuffing it away as one famished. Much of the chocolate smeared her countenance and her dress.

"Oh!" cried her mother. "I forgot that I put the cake in the breadbox. And I thought she could wear that dress on the train and all her others are packed! Francesca!"

"I wanna drink!" said her child.

"You wanna spanking!" said her aunt. "I wish I were not unalterably opposed to corporal punishment! I'm kind of changing my views!"

Francesca sidled over to them. She said one hand into her mother's and grasped her aunt's apron with the other, raising her chocolate-covered, cherublike countenance beamingly. "I wanna kiss you!" she wheedled, partially.

"You little imp!" said her mother. "Isn't she the limit!" said her aunt. Then they bumped heads obeying Francesca's order for kisses.

CHARACTER READING

"I thoroughly believe in physiognomy," said Bartlett to Standish, as they smoked their cigars in the billiard room of the Oakhurst club. Standish was a new member and Bartlett was trying to make it pleasant for him. "Its deductions are well-nigh infallible," ended Bartlett.

"It is an interesting study," replied Standish. "Though I should hardly attach great importance to its teachings. I've dabbled in it myself."

"Oh, have you? Been at it long?"

"I took it up about two years ago. A work on phrenology started me."

"Of course you are aware that phrenology is but one department of physiognomy. The figure, the carriage, the habits of the man as evidenced, say, by his clothes, his neatness or the lack of it and so on, all must be taken into account in forming a judgment of character."

"I quite agree with you," said Standish. "To a certain extent these appearances may guide one in making an estimate. And yet mistakes are likely to occur."

"For instance," said Bartlett. "Give us your reading of that big fellow playing pool at the second table."

"Well," said Standish, "to begin with, like most large men, he is lazy, lacks ambition, sleeps a good deal, is a sort of muttonhead. His wit is slow and his perceptions are dull. He's a heavy eater—a glutton, I might say. He's a poor money getter, because he's too stupid to be shrewd. On the other hand, that thick neck and those heavy eyebrows denote temper and brutishness. I think he beats his wife!"

"Humph!" ejaculated Bartlett, dubiously. "How about the young fellow he's playing with?"

"Sort of a saphend. Low brow and cigarette indicative of deficiency in intelligence. Judge from occasional remarks which float this way that he's a little shy on good breeding. Snobbish and conceited air shows him to be a cad. Tastes probably coarse and he's likely to play the prodigal son later on in life. He may be like a singled cat—better than he looks—but I should classify him as small potatoes and few in the hill. Wonder how near I've hit it. Do you know them?"

Bartlett winced and looked somewhat embarrassed, as he said: "I am on speaking terms with them. They are my brother-in-law and his son, my nephew."

Standish laughed heartily. "Well, I did put my foot in it that time. But of course I didn't know."

"Of course not," said Bartlett, apparently ruffled by Standish's amusement.

"To be sure," said Standish, "the tendencies, as plainly indicated by the facts of physiognomy may be modified by what one might call the accidents of education and all that; so one's judgment may be at fault."

"I don't think you need apologize," said Bartlett. "If I feel any annoyance I've brought it on myself."

"Would you say that my inferences were improperly drawn?" asked Standish.

"Oh, I guess not. Ah, I see there are ladies present."

"Where?"

"Over there talking to Sanderson."

"Oh, yes! That's—By the way, old man, do you know them?"

"No," said Bartlett; "strangers to me."

"I was about to ask you," said Standish, quickly, "to let me hear your analysis of character from outward appearances. You're an expert and I should like to learn. Here's a chance. How about them?"

"Well," replied Bartlett with a little laugh, brightening up, "I rather flatter myself on my success in deciphering lovely women by the rules of our science."

"Now," he went on, "this is a case of mother and daughter. The resemblance is very striking. Mother rather dowdy. She has a poor dressmaker, denoting false economy in the matter of expenditures. Probably she's a poor housekeeper. Head small, excessively vain. Manners evidently affected, indicating desire to break into a social set where she doesn't belong and can't remain if she gets in. On the whole, a member of the vulgar middle class."

"And the daughter—"

"Well, she's modern. Mother's traits will be toned down by environment, which is plainly that of well-to-do people. Don't think her taste in dressing shows much refinement. Rather a good-looking child, but not an intellectual face by any means. Wonder who they belong to. Friends of the Stewards, probably. They're coming this way!"

Standish, whose sense of humor seemed to be decidedly elemental, roared with laughter. "I wanted to give you a chance to get square with me," he said, "and you certainly did. My dear, this is Mr. Bartlett. He's been telling your fortune."

For a second time Bartlett's face was a study.

Lift Up the Heart.
Lift up, lift up, O heart of mine.
Thy face unto the King:
And let the glory of his sacred light,
Shine in, shine in.

And let the darkness of thy deep despair,
Thy grief, thy sin,
Like shadows of the night before the day,
Flee from within.

STRIKE IS ENDED.

Railroad Practically Concedes Every Demand of Trainmen.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 2.—The strike of conductors, trainmen and yardmen, which began on the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont systems on July 18, was officially called off tonight. Under the terms of the agreement signed by President Hays, for the railroads, and all the union officials, the men will receive, dating back to May 1 of this year, an advance of approximately 18 per cent, and beginning January 1, 1912, a rate of wages slightly below the eastern association schedule for which they struck, but an advance in many instances of over 30 per cent. Much credit for the successful outcome of the strike is given to W. L. Mackenzie King, the minister of labor, who has persisted in his efforts to bring the men together, despite discouraging setbacks.

In the case of the Central Vermont the same settlement applies with the exception that the standardization to be applied on January 1, 1912, is to be that of the Rutland railway, a road in the same territory and not that of the Canadian Pacific, which will only apply to the Grand Trunk system.

President Garretson of the conductors and President Lee of the trainmen both declare they are satisfied with the terms of the settlement. Both left tonight for St. Louis.

Tabernacle Burned

Manitou, Okla., The Holiness folks some time ago erected a temporary tabernacle on H. P. Gould's place just north of town, where they held their meetings. It was built of canvas over a frame and during the last week the structure was burned. The circumstances point unmistakably to incendiary origin.
